Chalk Ping-Pong Table

Most Ping-Pong tables would look a little out of place in a Tribeca loft or a Malibu beach house, but the one created by Puma and the product-design company Aruliden is a little different. With its ceramic surface (finished so that you and your opponents can keep score or write insults on it in chalk) and metal net, it's about as high-design as they come. And, assuming you're the type who's allergic to clutter, there's also a convenient spot for paddle storage. ($4,750; conranusa.com)
